Toller News

Shows have not started since the pandemic, but we do have news. Channel will be a father once again. His mate is from Sea Star Kennels and her name is Ellie. She is due sometime during the second week of June. We do not know how many puppies she is carrying. Below are a few shots of Ellie. We can't wait to see the pups!

In Other News

D Tails is still open for Day School and Classes. Day School is open on Tuesday-Thursday and we would like to get back to a full week when we can. We are handling drop-off and pick-up in a socially responsible way. We are cleaning our facility, adhering to CDC protocols. As Connecticut begins to open, more people will be going back to the office. During this time, your dog has been used to you being home. There will be sad, stressed-out pups when they are left alone again. Have your dog come to Day School, to ease the transition. Also, with warmer weather and the time change, we can hold all our classes outside and maintain social distance. Did you foster or adopt a new pup? We have a Beginning Obedience class starting on June 11th. Are your dogs bored? Consider a Beginning Nosework class which starts on June 10th.

If you have any questions concerning classes or Day School, please do not hesitate to call Donna at (860) 388-1819.

Heads and Tails

The Petsy shop will be opening at their new location, upper level, Clinton Crossing, on June 13th or before. They will have new merchandise from Dog Is Good plus all your favorite leashes, collars, bandanas, artwork, treats, and so much more!

A family in Australia found what they thought was a stray puppy in their yard. Turns out, he is a rare Alpine Dingo. He is now in the hands of the Australia Dingo Foundation Sanctuary who hope to make him an ambassador for his species. You can read the article here:
